Laurence Hanley, of the "Blue Jeans" company, has just had an interesting experience and has tendered his resignation. He was playing the part of Perry Bascom and was tied to the plank awaiting the coming teeth of the buzz-saw. Miss Laura Burt, who was to rush in and rescue him, failed to appear at the proper time, and Hanley, telleving that he was really in danger calmly and placidly rolled off the plank. The buzz-saw's teeth buried itself in the plank. The whole scene was spoiled and the audience was thoroughly disappointed. Manager W. F. Blande was furious. He rushed behind the scenes and fined Hanley $25. behind the scenes and fined Hanley $25.
This the actor declined to pay, tendering his resignation, but threatening to sue Rosen-quest and Arthur if they accepted it. The sequel has not yet been announced. The indications, however, are that Hanley will not

Jack Skelly's benefit will take place at the Clermont Avenue Rink next Monday evening. Among those who will appear are Joe Choynski. Jack McAuliffe, "Kid" Hogan, Jack Falion, Johnnie Steinwit and George Dixon, Skelly's conqueror. During the course of a conversation with Skelly the other day the pogular Williamsburger said that the reports that he had permanently retired from the ring were without foundation. "I am going to work in a few days," said Jack, "and will be pretty busy until after the holidays. After that, if I see what I think is a good chance to make some money by fighting I will do so. But I never expect to depend on it for a living," skelly had an offer recently of $25.0 to box before a prominent club, but he declined. "I do not propose," he said, "to fight for the amusement of any club or to degenerate into a mixed-ale fighter."
